Re: Bankruptcy, trying to figure out the legal status of my Apple Card. Apple pressured some employees to enroll starting in April 2019 (four months before it 'launched') and statements say like "beta" / "seed design" but its a real credit card. Did CFPB ever learn about this?

I didn't even tag you, Goldman, where'd you even come from? I think you have to go through Apple's lawyers. I asked them to talk to you about this debt like 20x times and they refused. They also refused to give me a copy of the agreement I signed for the card & said its secret.

Apple's main lawyers on the retaliation/labor stuff (where they owe me the money I need to pay off the card) are Orrick for civil and Morgan Lewis for NLRB. I'm not supposed to talk to their "client" directly or they send me angry emails about it. Thanks.
